Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT, forming the joint.

STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and end wires become one piece when the union is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires were welded by electricity.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

Can you find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and washing machines, on many tubs and buckets. Examine them.

Can you find any more reliable protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely guaranteed.

Mrs. Jemima Howe Carnes An Interesting Reminiscence

Mrs. Jemima Howe Carnes will on September 8 next be 86 years old. Mrs. Carnes' maiden name was Cole. She was married at the age of 18 to William James Carnes in Louisiana. She is the mother of thirteen children, five of whom are dead. There are twenty-nine grandchildren and twenty great-grand children. Her own children who are living are: Joseph Carnes of Floresville, Wm. Carnes of Hallettsville, Ralph Carnes of Gonzales county and Seth Carnes of Yoakum, Mesdames Mary Atlanta of Livingston, Martha Massie of Smithville, L. M. Kokernot of Gonzales and Cora O. Ward of Shiner, whose tender care and companionship is so unselfishly administered to her aged mother. Her husband, Wm. J. Carnes, during the civil war sent a substitute to the Confederate army at the outbreak of the war, and served in an official capacity as guardian and protector of his neighborhood and housing and supporting many of the Confederate women and children throughout the war.

valueless, and the home that had sheltered the wounded privates, as well as officials, but a shadow of its former splendor.

Grandma Carnes recalls the comet of 75 years ago accurately. She was then about ten years old. That comet she states was more brilliant and very different looking to the present one. The night of the falling of the stars, or as it was termed then, "the eruption in the air," created much alarm. The meteors appeared to be as large as coconuts, and continued falling throughout the night, with a whizzing, swishing noise, which continued throughout the next day, though the meteors were invisible. The community for several days was in a great state of alarm and mourning, and two disastrous storms that followed during the same week, left death and destruction in their wake.

Grandma Carnes has always lived a devoted Christian life. Her picture, as she requested us to say, represents her studying the Bible, which is open at her favorite chapter, the 14th of John. She is a close reader, enjoying the secular papers, and has been a reader and subscriber of the Texas Christian Advocate since its publication.

Her home was often the home of Bishop James Keener and family, and she now has in her possession the record books of the Sabbath school and quarterly conference of her parish in Louisiana, as far back as 1858. She takes pride in being elected to honorary and life membership in the Epworth league of Shiner, and says to think she has lived to her advanced age and then to be hunted up and interviewed for the first time in her life by a newspaper representative.

When questioned as to her creed and church relationship, she smilingly remarked: "I'll give you an answer framed sixty years ago—

"My Saviour's name I'll gladly sing,
He is my captain and my king;
The devil's camp I bid adieu,
And Zion's peaceful land pursue;
The reason why I tell you this—
The devil hates a Methodist."
